LINK TV LAUNCHES “GLOBAL PULSE” NEWS PROGRAM

NEW TV AND WEB SERIES GLOBAL PULSE COMPARES U.S. NEWS REPORTS WITH NEWS COVERAGE FROM AROUND THE WORLD

New York, NY, June 5, 2007 — Link TV announced today the launch of GLOBAL PULSE, a news resource that compares and contrasts U.S. television news coverage with television news reports from over twenty nations including Japan, China, Korea, Russia, Iran, Qatar, Pakistan, India, Nigeria, France, Germany, U.K., Mexico and Venezuela. GLOBAL PULSE gives Americans access to different national perspectives by presenting news stories that cannot be seen anywhere else in the U.S. media. Daily episodes of GLOBAL PULSE are three to five minutes in length, and allow the viewer to witness the differences in media spin on world events from country to country – and from broadcaster to broadcaster. GLOBAL PULSE shows Americans how the rest of the world views current events, and U.S. policy and culture, with a fresh, innovative approach to presenting the news. GLOBAL PULSE is viewable on the web at www.linktv.org/globalpulse and on television on DISH Network channel 9410 and DirecTV channel 375.

This week on GLOBAL PULSE:

Darfur and China – Oil vs. Genocide: China, the biggest world buyer of Sudanese oil, reports news of the genocide in Darfur differently than western sources.

Link TV has joined forces with the public opinion research and graphics team at American University's School of Communication, to create original graphics of complex polling data for Global Pulse. To date, the team has contributed to Global Pulse episode on the Iraq war anniversary, climate change and women in politics.

GLOBAL PULSE is the most recent program to join the unique genre of global broadcast news reporting pioneered by LINK TV (Mosaic: World News from the Middle East, Latin Pulse/Pulso Latino) in which original reports from broadcasters around the world are presented to U.S. and global audiences on television and the web. GLOBAL PULSE is funded by a grant from the John D. and Catherine T. MacArthur Foundation. For a full list of GLOBAL PULSE broadcasters, visit: <http://www.linktv.org/globalpulse/broadcasters>

ALSO ON LINK TV

Mosaic: <http://www.linktv.org/mosaic>

The Peabody Award-winning daily compilation of television news reports from the Middle East including, Egypt, Lebanon, Israel, Syria, the Palestinian Authority, Iraq and Iran.

Latin Pulse/Pulso Latino: <http://www.linktv.org/latinpulse>

Latin Pulse is a bilingual English/Spanish news magazine that examines Latin American issues of relevance to the American public but that are not covered by the mainstream U.S. media. This unique program presents news and analysis on Latin America through the eyes of Latin American media.
